Woman Claims She Saw Pastor, Choir Leader Murdered

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. Oct. 10.—A new witness, a woman, who claims to have seen Rev. Dr. Edward W. Hall, wealthy rector of the fashionable Protestant Episcopal church of St. John the Evangelist, and his beautiful choir leader, Mrs James Mills, killed in "a battle between a man and a woman on one side and two men and a woman on the other side," was found today

The self claimed eye witness of the mysterious midnight tragedy, which has baffled the authorities more than three weeks, is an inmate of the Parker home for the aged which is just across the road from the old Phillips farm where the bodies of Dr. Hall and Mrs Mills were found beneath a stunted crabapple tree on Saturday, Sept. 16

Disputes "Confession"

If the woman s statement is verified and proved true she will prove false the murder charge against 19 year old Clifford Haves who is held as the result of a story told the authorities by his pal, Raymond Schneider

This woman whose name is withheld for the present said that on Friday morning September 15, about half an hour after midnight, while lying in bed she awakened and heard screams and cries. Getting out of bed she went to a window where she saw a woman and two men fighting a man and a woman at the corner of DeRussey s lane Easton avenue both of which pass either through or by the old Phillips farm The struggle, she said was terrific Presently the woman said she heard several shots This frightened her so much she jumped into bed and hid her head beneath the covers

It is understood that corroboration of the fight has been obtained from other witnesses

With two self possessed boys in jail facing possible arraignment this morning the Somerset and Middlesex county authorities worked feverishly today to throw further light upon the mysteriously tangled circumstances surrounding the double murder The two pris

SHIP OWNERS PLAN TO FIGHT LIQUOR ORDER

LONDON Oct 10 —Representatives of shipping companies plying the Baltic sea and the north Atlantic coast met here today to take action to combat the American government s ruling that ships carrying liquor shall not enter American ports

Those attending the meeting would not say what action was under consideration, but it was intimated that reprisals would be suggested

The foreign office announced today that it would send a formal communication to Washington upon the Daugherty ruling as soon as it had been studied in detail

PARIS, Oct 10 —French merchant marine officials today appealed to Premier Poincare to make formal protest to the United States against Attorney General Daugherty's ruling that no ships carrying liquor shall enter the three mile zone off the American coast

The French charge that the American liquor ruling violates the freedom of the seas and interferes with the French law allowing a portion of wine to be served daily as part of the food of French sailors

The French are threatening customs reprisals against the United States for losses accruing to French commerce as a result of the ruling

Formal request will be made that the ruling be held in abeyance until diplomatic conversations can be held in an effort to reach amicable adjustment

French maritime officials are angered over the American action and it is feared that it will be difficult to obtain seamen to man ships if the sailors are not allowed to get their accustomed wine while in American ports

OHIOANS URGED TO BUY COAL SUPPLY

COLUMBUS Oct 10 —Domestic coal consumers in Ohio were requested to lay in a small emergency supply in public appeal made by State Fuel Administrator Neal today

At the same time Administrator Neal directed an appeal to all retail coal dealers in the state asking them to limit coal prices voluntarily for such emergency sales to the minimum figure consistent with sound business policy, pending determination of fair prices to be set by Administrator Neal.

"Information from many points in the state Neal said, indicates that the people of Ohio have been refraining from buying any supply of coal at all until the prices reach a lower level

"It is to assist these householders in avoiding possible suffering by the sudden cold weather that small buying is to be recommended

"When the sharp break comes, and it may come any day now" Neal said "there is apt to be a rush for fuel that will seriously tax the dealers' ability to distribute it It also must be remembered that the maximum fair prices set so far are not effective until October 11

"Any limitations that may be fixed for jobbers and retailers will have to be preceded by a five day notice before they can become effective," Neal said

"Reports from many points in the state also indicate that most of the dealers especially the smaller ones, have only a very small supply of coal on hand to meet such an emergency rush for fuel " Neal said

The British and French are now turning their entire attention to the relief of the Greek and Armenian refugees Hundreds of thousands of them will have to be evacuated from Constantinople and Thrace before the peace treaty is signed and the Turkish soldiers occupy both these districts

To add to the horrors which confront these homeless penniless, starving, hordes pestilence is decimating them Medical supplies are lacking and there are only a few nurses and physicians to care for the dying

Plan Relief Work

It is probable that both England and France will vote a sum of money to be administered by the league of nations and commission Dr Fridtjof Nansen to go to the Near East to supervise the relief work Dr Nansen had wide experience in this kind of work in Russia

Dr Nansen will arrange for the transportation of Greek fugitives from Thrace and Constantinople to Greece

The Greek government complains that the country is already over run and that it must have outside assistance There is a famine and bread shortage throughout Greece and already thousands of refugees are compelled to seek shelter in warehouses and barracks and churches

Dr Nansen probably will go to Brousa first, then to Athens From reports in hand Dr Nansen says that the situation of the fugitives is made more serious by the fact that they are practically all women, old men and children who are incapacitated for work and cannot earn their own living Families have been separated and there are thousands of children who are being cared for by strangers

The refugees are being concentrated in twelve principal centers

American relief stations have been set up and are now functioning with typical American efficiency R R Reger, of Philadelphia, is trying to communicate with American relatives of Greek and American fugitives to appeal for help

Production Record Best in Two Years, Survey Discloses

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—American industry is now marking up the best production record made since the period of depression two years ago, it was shown by a new business survey issued today by the department of commerce.

Increased output is general among all industries, the report said. Factory employment is larger than at the end of 1920, which is held to be a chief factor in a more even distribution of buying power.

Hold Decline Temporary

Declines in prices for agricultural products are believed only temporary Bountiful harvests forecast for this year have served to depress farm product prices, but world demand is due to send them up again Meanwhile farmers are resting easy, assured of plenty of credit according to government officials and a large percentage of them so well established they would not have to make demands upon the banks such as were necessary last year and the year preceding

Manufactured articles and minerals have shown a tendency to rise in price as a result of increased demand The conclusion of experts is that industry is again upon a sound basis after twenty four months of curtailed production and deliveries from accumulated stocks of goods

Healthy Activities

Healthy business activity is reflected by the following industrial developments

Wood consumption is larger than at any period since the census bureau began compiling such data The textile mills absorbed a large volume, due partly to the increased receipts of foreign wool before enactment of the tariff law

Cotton spindles are more active Although exports of cotton cloth goods recently declined, consumption of fabrics by automobile tire manufacturers has reached 11,000, 000, 000 pounds a month, the highest in a year

Locomotive manufacturers are speeding up to meets the needs of the railroads for new motive power The plants have unfilled orders for 926 locomotives, the largest since 1920

Shortage Of Labor

While exports of steel and iron have declined, they are considerably higher than the low records of last year

Production of automobiles, both passenger and trucks now exceed all previous records

Large seasonal increases in exports of wheat and wheat flour are noted Exports of rye and rye flour also have increased

There is an actual shortage of labor in a number of industrial lines, the demand for skilled labor being particularly strong

TAFT FAVORS ENGLISH PLAN ON LAW SUITS

WASHINGTON Oct 10 — The English plan of despatching litigation brought to the highest court with least possible delay is to be followed by the United States supreme court it was disclosed today

Chief Justice Taft made a study of the English judicial system during the past summer and was impressed with methods in practice of facilitating appealed cases to final decision So far as possible under the two systems of judicial procedure the English plan of hastening final decrees is to be followed

The United States supreme court contrary to expectations based on long custom disposed in its first decision today of a vast amount of business before the court Final action was taken on 25 appeals for writs bringing up to the higher courts cases that had been decided in the lower courts

There have been about 125 such appeals for writs filed the chief justice announced They will be disposed of by the court in batches of 25 '

Besides taking this summary action the court advanced and set for argument on assigned dates a large number of the more important cases that have been brought to it on appeal The latest date set was in February and the chief justice has set for the justices a winter of hard and continuous work

The court settled down today to the hearing of arguments of cases on the docket and is pushing such cases along with time cut short for verbal statements from the laywers appearing In a very few of the cases the court will be willing to allow an hour or more for argument but in most cases the time allotted is fifteen or ten minutes

MAY REVOKE AMERICAN RED CROSS CHARTER

WASHINGTON, Oct 10 —Unless the American Red Cross abandons its social service and local relief program confining its activities to relief work in time of war, pestilence of great calamity, its charter may be revoked, the National Red Cross convention was informed today by Miss Mabel T Boardman, secretary of the organization

KEE ROSTER IS DUE FOR SHAKE-UP

Rumor Collins May Succeed Huggins as Manager; Ruth and Meusel May Be Sold

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The offices of the New York Yankees have become, overnight, a clearing house for rumors and counter rumors, the most plausible of which is that Edward G. Barrow, now business manager, will replace Miller Huggins as the active leader of the ball club. This comes from semi official sources and as such, is worthy of credence. The others are guesses, merely that.

They profess to prove as fact that Carl Mays, Aaron Ward and Norman McMillan are to be traded to the White Sox for Dick Kerr and Eddie Collins, the later to be made manager of the club; that Babe Ruth and Bob Meusel are to be knocked down to the highest bidders; that "Bullet Joe" Bush is to be sent on his way as punishment for his outbreak against Huggins in the eighth inning of Sunday's world's series game and that Ruth, if not sold or traded, is to have his contract revised.

Meantime, Jake Ruppert, diplomatic as always, has issued a statement to the effect that Huggins can stay "if his health permits." We have an idea that Huggins' 'health' will make this impossible. Ruppert does not hold Huggins responsible for the terrible playing of the Yanks in the world's series. No sane man can. But he may be made to yield to pressure and the fact that Huggins desires to have an owner's berth in the American association may influence the colonel.

Huggins or no Huggins, the Yanks are in for an overhauling. That is as sure as slow poison. There is entirely too much temperament and too little ball playing on the club as it is made up at the moment. As one magnate so aptly put it, "the Yanks are a bunch of prima donna opera singers who cannot sing when it rains."

The rumor about Collins is a joke, of course. Eddie might turn out to be the best manager in the world; or the worst; but no one will ever find out about it as long as men like Mays, Ward and McMillan are offered for him.

It is not conceivable that any of the three men named can be of use to the White Sox. Comiskey is trying to build up a ball club, not demolish it. That being the case, why would he give up Eddie Collins, a star second baseman for Aaron Ward, a mediocrity, and Dick Kerr, a fine left hander, for Carl Mays, a seemingly passe veteran and a baseball radical as well? McMillan does not figure. He is just a kid infielder that Huggins converted into an outfielder without notable success.

Barrow is the man if Huggins goes That is almost certain. He is a practical baseball man, having been president of the international league for years and subsequently manager of the Red Sox when they won the pennant and worlds championship in 1918. He is also a dominating, forceful, two fisted citizen and for our part, the Yanks could look further and do worse.

ARMY SEES BIG GRID YEAR AHEAD: WIN OVER KANSAS CHEERS

Army team at scrimmage practice and Capt. Fritz Breidster, one of the big stars of the team.

West Point supporters have rosy visions of a big year for the Army team as a result of the team's showing to date. The 18 to 0 victory over the University of Kansas, while bringing out some ragged playing, showed that the soldier boys have plenty of power and the makings of a "real" Army eleven. Captain Breidster, guard, and one of the best linemen on the team last year, is counted upon to star again this year. The Army hopes to wind up this year's campaign by wiping out the stain of the 7 to 0 defeat administered by the Navy last fall.

WORLD SERIES PLAYERS ON A BARN STORMING

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Members of both the Giants and Yankees called on Judge Landis today to receive permission to engage in barn storming tours in each case, with the exception of Babe Ruth and Bob Meusel, permission was granted. The latter will receive official sanction in a day or two, it is said, there being some special details to be cleared up in their cases.

Ruth and Meusel, according to reports, have engaged to play with various teams through the west for a consideration said to be $2000 a game. This is almost as much as each Yankee player received for the entire worlds series.

This latter amount has been officially announced as $2,857.49 a full share going to each of 26 players.

PROTECTION IS BETTER THAN BANDAGES

There are two classes of people in the world, classified with respect to their attitude upon evil. One of these classes is always working toward the elimination of evil. They may be incidentally interested in taking care of its results. The other class is interested in taking care of the results of evil and only incidentally, if at all, in the prevention of evil.

The work of prevention, however, is fundamental work. It keeps the strong, strong, it keeps the wholesome, wholesome, and it keeps the perfect, perfect. Taking care of the evil after it is done is the work of the detention home, the police station and the hospital. Moral scavangers will be necessary as long as society is in the condition that it is, but we should endeavor to approach the time when social garbage is not produced, or when its production is reduced to the minimum.

Our attention has been drawn to this thought by the constant appeals for help from the Near East, to take care of the suffering which is caused by the Turk and by others. America has given her millions and will continue to do so, to help care for the unfortunates. But is it not time that we devoted some of our energy and some of our money to the curing of the condition, which makes relief necessary, to protection and not all of it to supporting the hospital corps so to speak?

PROTECT THE BOYS

In crossing the Washington avenue bridge yesterday we noticed several boys on the top of the high retaining wall that rises from the river. They were engaged in throwing stones into the river below and in so doing, were bending over the wall and standing within a few inches of the outer edge. They were interested and excited as each tried to outdo the other, either in the distance he could throw or in his accuracy in hitting the mark in the river. They were just typical boys. They were in a place of danger, they were daring and competing. We admired them, but they are too precious to lose. If the center of equilibrium of their bodies had moved five inches forward, they would have fallen thirty or forty feet to the river below. An officer was called, who promptly responded, warned the boys of their danger and made them leave the premises. To be sure the boys were on the private right-of-way of the railroad. They were trespassing, but it is natural for a boy to trespass. It is natural for him to get onto such a high wall.

We would suggest that an iron fence or railing of some sort should be placed upon that wall to ensure protection to the boys. One boy's life is worth more than what such a rail would cost. Possibly the railroad would place such a protection upon the wall. If they would not, and could not be made to do it, the city should do it.

ALL THERE IS IN IT

Uncle Joe Cannon says that he is sorry he quit the game. We like that. We have always felt that Uncle Joe played the game in the interests of those who did not need help, as against those who did. But we certainly have admired his ambition and his spirit of youth.

Every day to Uncle Joe has been a new day. It has been a day of adventure, it has been a day of expectation, it has been a day of inquiry, with certain elements of chance. He was constantly wondering what he was going to draw. The spirit of the boy is still in him and he will never reach the time when there will be any monotonous drab in his life.

If new things do not come his way he will create them, and we predict that he will find something worth while to do. We hope that he will get onto the right side of it. We admire his personality. We love his kind. He is certainly getting out of life all there is in it.

The lad who makes a confession of killing the Rev. Mr. Hall and the choir leader, Mrs. Mills, has the same excuse that the chairman of the lynching committee had who broke the news to the widow. He said "The joke's on us, we killed the wrong man!"

We'll venture that couples will avoid the particularity of this trouble in the future.

NEW LEGISLATION FOR CONGRESS PLANNED BY LEGION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10—The full weight of the American legion is to be thrown toward securing the adoption of a constructive legislative program at the next session of congress which will meet the wants and deires of the country's ex-service men.

Aside from the so called soldiers bonus, the fight over which is expected to be renewed as soon as congress reconvenes, two outstanding features of the proposed program are:

1—Enactment of a law which would draft not only fighting men but labor and the rest of the nations man power in a national emergency such as war.

2—Creation of a new committee in both senate and house which would deal exclusively with legislation affecting world war and veterans instead of bills and other measures involving them being referred to a dozen different committees as is now the practice.

With the cooperation of ex-service men who are members of congress, leaders of the American legion and other ex-soldiers organizations hope to see a program adopted which will give the four million men who served in the U S army during the world war a larger voice in the writing of legislation which directly concerns them

They point out that labor, farmers and other organizations are continuously engaged in efforts to secure legislation of direct benefit to them, and they declare ex-service men's organizations have just as much right to ask congress to consider them collectively without being accused of seeking "class legislation."

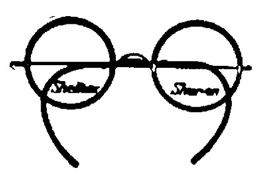

The opening of the American legion national convention at New Orleans Monday next will find the legislative committee of that organization already at work upon the program which it is proposed to press upon congress when the next session gets under way

While interest in the convention will centre largely about the choice of a new national commander who will take up the bonus fight once congress is back on the job, there are other important questions to be decided which will also involve the future of the ex-service men

Care of the disabled and dependent world war veteran is one of them. Some of those active in the higher councils of the American legion believe that the veterans bureau should be directly answerable to a special congressional committee created for that purpose so that maimed and invalided fighting men may at all times have an agency to which they may appear for redress instead of having to ask individual senators or representatives to intercede for them in case they have just complaints to make.

A clash between organized labor and those who believe in an universal service law instead of one that only drafts fighting men is regarded as inevitable if the movement to secure the enactment of such a law arrests the attention of congress.

It was organized labor, headed by Samuel Gompers, president of the American federation of labor, which successfully fought attempts to "conscript" labor at the outset of this country's entry into the world war, but ex-service men contend that not one but all classes of citizens should be drafted for national service in the event of war, and that it is economically wrong for certain men to be sent to the front, and compelled to make great personal sacrifices, while others remain at home and reap a harvest of profits and high wages far from the danger line.

THE MOST ABUSED ORGAN AND THE LEAST COMPLAINING IS THE EYE.

When it does need help it is wise to heed the warning. If you are having trouble from that source, it is imperative that your eyes be attended to now.

...W YORK, Oct 10.—"Safety ... is not only a humanitarian ... but an economic one, Judge ... H. Gary, chairman of the United ...tes Steel corporation of "safety ... week" here,

Many large business firms, Judge Gary said, are spending millions annually in the promulgation of safety and general welfare plans, aside from the question of right, which Judge Gary declared was reason enough for the expenditures, the expression pays in dollars and cents.

The proposition now engaging our thought and action, Judge Gary said, "is first of all one of humanity but it is also economic. A nation which decreases deaths and injuries by accidents is in the highest and best sense conserving its resources."

Newspapers Judge Gary asserted "are rendering a great service to humanity," by publishing accounts of accidents, thus emphasizing the need for the exercise of most caution on the part of the individual.

cal responsibility to the exclusion of national and international responsibilities," he told the delegates. Approval was also voiced by Mrs. August Belmont of New York.

"If crippled nationally in our finances, we cannot raise our heads and say what we are going to do in case of great disaster. We must have money in the national treasury.

Mrs. Belmont advocated the addition of a $35 "chapter membership."

The convention adopted a resolution offered by E. H. K. McComb of Indiana, directing the central committee to reconsider the division of membership fees between the local chapters and the national organization, provoked a vigorous discussion among the delegates. At present the national organization receives fifty cents of each member ship, whether the amount paid be $1, $5 or $10 Some delegates urged that the amount be reduced fo 25 cents.

Judge Payne warned against cutting down to the amount allotted to the national organization.

"Since we get only fifty cents, if you go whittling the tree, the American Red Cross will fall," he said.

Premier Lloyd George is reported to be planning to make a great speech, probably on Saturday, defending himself against personal attacks regarding Near East policy and perhaps outlining his political future.

Notwithstanding the onslaughts from all sides it is understood that the premier is unlikely to resign until Europe is more quiet and the Near East crisis is on the way to settlement.

Foresee Armistice.

Optimistic reports reached the foreign office today from Constantinople and Mudania indicating that an armistice agreement might be signed at the latter place before night.

All quarters admitted that the prospects for Near East peace have improved within the past twenty-four hours as the result of the withdrawal of the Turkish troops from the neutral zone at Ismid.

Premier Lloyd George is ready to make formal suggestion as soon as the Near East agreement is reached that Russia be invited to the peace parley.

When the peace parley is assured Premier Lloyd George will turn to domestic politics and will answer his critics He is already conferring with his political colleagues on the advisability of calling a general election early in December to ask the country to show its approval or disapproval of his policies

Mohammed VI, sultan of Turkey, has definitely tendered his resignation to Mustapha Kemal Pasha, head of the Angora government, but acceptance has been withheld pending the outcome of the armistice negotiations at Mudania, said a Constantinople despatch printed in the Morning Post today.

WOMAN CLAIMS

suers, Clifford Hayes, charged with first degree murder, and Raymond Schneider, held as a material witness, spent a comfortable night and if their minds were disturbed by the lurid account of midnight murder on a lonely farm beside a deserted house, they did not allow it to interfere with their slumbers. Both are held incommunicado so far as reporters are concerned.

Conflicting Evidence

There are a number of points that have not been cleared. According to Schneider the shooting took place after 1 o'clock Friday morning, September 15, according to persons living in the neighborhood screams of shots were heard coming from the Phillips farm just before midnight instead of after that hour. Other witnesses tell of seeing an automobile, perhaps two, speeding down the lonely little lane leading from the old Phillips farm.

Schneider said nothing about that. Nor did he explain how Mrs. Mill's throat came to be cut (the head was nearly severed from the trunk), nor how it came about that the bodies were carefully arranged with arms folded and torn love letters were scattered around and one of Dr. Hall's calling cards happened to be propped up against the heel of his shoe so that there could be no mistake about his identity. Nor could he tell how the face and arms of Mrs. Mills were scratched as though by human finger nails.

Shooting Questioned

According to Schneider, Hayes drew his pistol and shot at the couple under the crabapple tree on the deserted farm without taking careful aim. He shot in the pitch black darkness an hour after midnight. And yet examination of the bodies revealed that the shooter had either been an expert shot or else careful aim had been taken at close range. Both were shot nearly in the same spot in the head so that death would be certain.

It is understood that the authorities have not yet given up the theory that a woman was involved They are curious to know how Hayes and Schneider could mistake Mrs Mills a mature woman of 36, for Pearl Bahmer, who is small and slender.

Prosecutor A. M. Beekman, of Somerset county, said he would make an effort to have Hayes arraigned before a supreme court justice later in the day on the direct charge of murdering Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills. It was considered probable that Schneider, who gave the county authorities most of the information upon which Hayes was arrested, would be arraigned also.

Girl Has Sensation

Pearl Bahmer, the 15 year old girl with whom Hayes and Schneider were reported to be infatuated, intimated that she might be able to spring a sensation if questioned again.

"If I am brought before the authorities I will tell a real story," said Pearl. "I know Clifford did not shoot Mr. Hall or Mrs. Mills."

It was learned that the girl accused Schneider of trying to induce here to poison her stepfather. Schneider is said to have urged the girl to "put laundanum" in the old man's drink

The authorities have learned that the girl either attempted or pretended to commit suicide about two months ago She was dragged from the Raritan canal unconscious She had left a note on the bank reading:

"Ray Schneider is the cause of this act."

Prosecutor A. M. Beekman, who is assisting Prosecutor Stricker in handling the state's case, said he would likely change his plans and not have Hayes arraigned until later. He said that the information he had in hand and the developments so far "entirely justified the murder charge against Hayes." He said that no connection had been found between Hall and Schneider, or any member of the Hall or Mills families.

LAKE SHORE ELECTRIC GIVEN TIME EXTENSION

COLUMBUS, Oct. 10.—The state utilities commission today authorized the Lake Shore Electric Co. to extend ten years from January 1, 1923, to January 1, 1933, the date of maturity of $2,850,000 worth of its first consolidation mortgage, 20 year, 5 per cent gold bonds and to pay 6 per cent interest on these bonds during the ten-year extension period. The bonds were issued as of January 1, 1903.

The commission's action is due to the company's inability to call its outstanding general mortgage bonds, maturing February 1, 1933.

BANNING BOOZE ON SHIPS MAY COMPLICATE MATTERS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10. — A flood of international complications, the seriousness and extent of which officials did not care to speculate on today, is confidently expected to follow the government's sweeping decision that no booze of any sort under any flag may come into the ports of these dry United States.

An immediate and world wide howl of protest is anticipated by government officials, from President Harding down to the customs agents and dry sleuths whose duty it will be to try to enforce the unprecedented order Officials took the position today however, that congress framed the law so as to give the executive branch of the government no other alternative, and it is now up to congress to change the law, if it wants it changed.

Orders were dispatched by the United States shipping board today to cease the sale of all liquor on all boats flying the American flag As for the foreign ships nothing will be done toward enforcing the order until the treasury experts figure out a way to apply the ships that touch liquor shall not touch our ports, decree.

A. D. Lasker, chairman of the shipping board, who has consistently fought for the right of American liners to dispense liquor, took a gloomy view of the situation today. If the order "sticks" and is upheld by the United States supreme court, where it presently will be tested, Lasker has visions of the decline of great American ports.

He sees the great liners that now port in New York, Boston and Portland, going to Montreal, Halifax and Vancouver instead, with the consequent decline in business in those American ports.

"The American merchant marine is immediately put at a disadvantage," he observed disconsolately. "Foreign ships will continue to sell liquor and will be preferred. If they can't touch American ports with it they will go elsewhere, or dodge the provisions by some means or another."

Great Britain and France are expected to be the loudest of the foreign nations in their howls against the new American order. The Great Britain and French liners that go into New York and Boston and the Japanese liners that port in Portland, Seattle and San Francisco, do a thriving bar business and their governments are prepared to back them to the limit—as already proven by the protests in the state department.

Numerous ways in which the foreigners might best beat the game were being suggested today. The most feasible one was that the big liners like the Cunard and French might maintain heavy lighters outside the three mile limit to which the liners could transfer their liquor stores just before coming in, picking them up again on the outward passage.

In dry quarters, the new order was hailed with delight today. Wayne B. Wheeler, generalissimo of the anti-saloon league, was triumphant He issued a formal statement congratulating the government.

Among dry congressmen, up for re-election, the order also was well received. Republican drys have had to stand a lot of sniping from wet democrats in some congressional districts over the fact that the republican administration was in the liquor business on the high seas, and they were nervous over its effect on the dry vote

In at least two states where the wet and dry issues figure prominently in this year's senatorial elections Ohio and New Jersey the order is expected to benefit the republican candidates

In New Jersey, Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, republican, is running as a bone dry candidate against Governor Edward I Edwards, who confesses himself "as wet as the Atlantic ocean"

In Ohio, Representative Simeon D. Fess, republican, the senatorial candidate, is an anti saloon league dry, opposed to Senator Atlee Pomerene, democrat, who has distinctly moist leanings

The plaintiff states that on Sept. 27, 1917, Kiser offered to take him and two others to Grafton if they would buy the gasoline for his automobile They did so and the trip was made On the way back the assertion is made that Kiser carelessly and recklessly drove the auto against a telegraph pole near LaPorte The plaintiff was thrown out and his leg was badly broken. He was laid up for six months, and asks judgment for $6,630 for doctor and hospital bills, loss of time, and for his injury.

A UNION OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Healthy Housewife---Happy Home

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Helped Form Many

For the ailing, half-sick housewife such a union is impossible. Often times even the slightest form of housework cannot be accomplished. Yet the work must be done.

Many women struggle along for years suffering from some form of female trouble that makes their lives miserable and their homes far from happy.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped thousands of just such women regain their health and strength. Just give your thought to the following letters and remember that the women who wrote these letters knew how they felt before taking the Vegetable Compound and again afterwards. It helped them—let it help you.

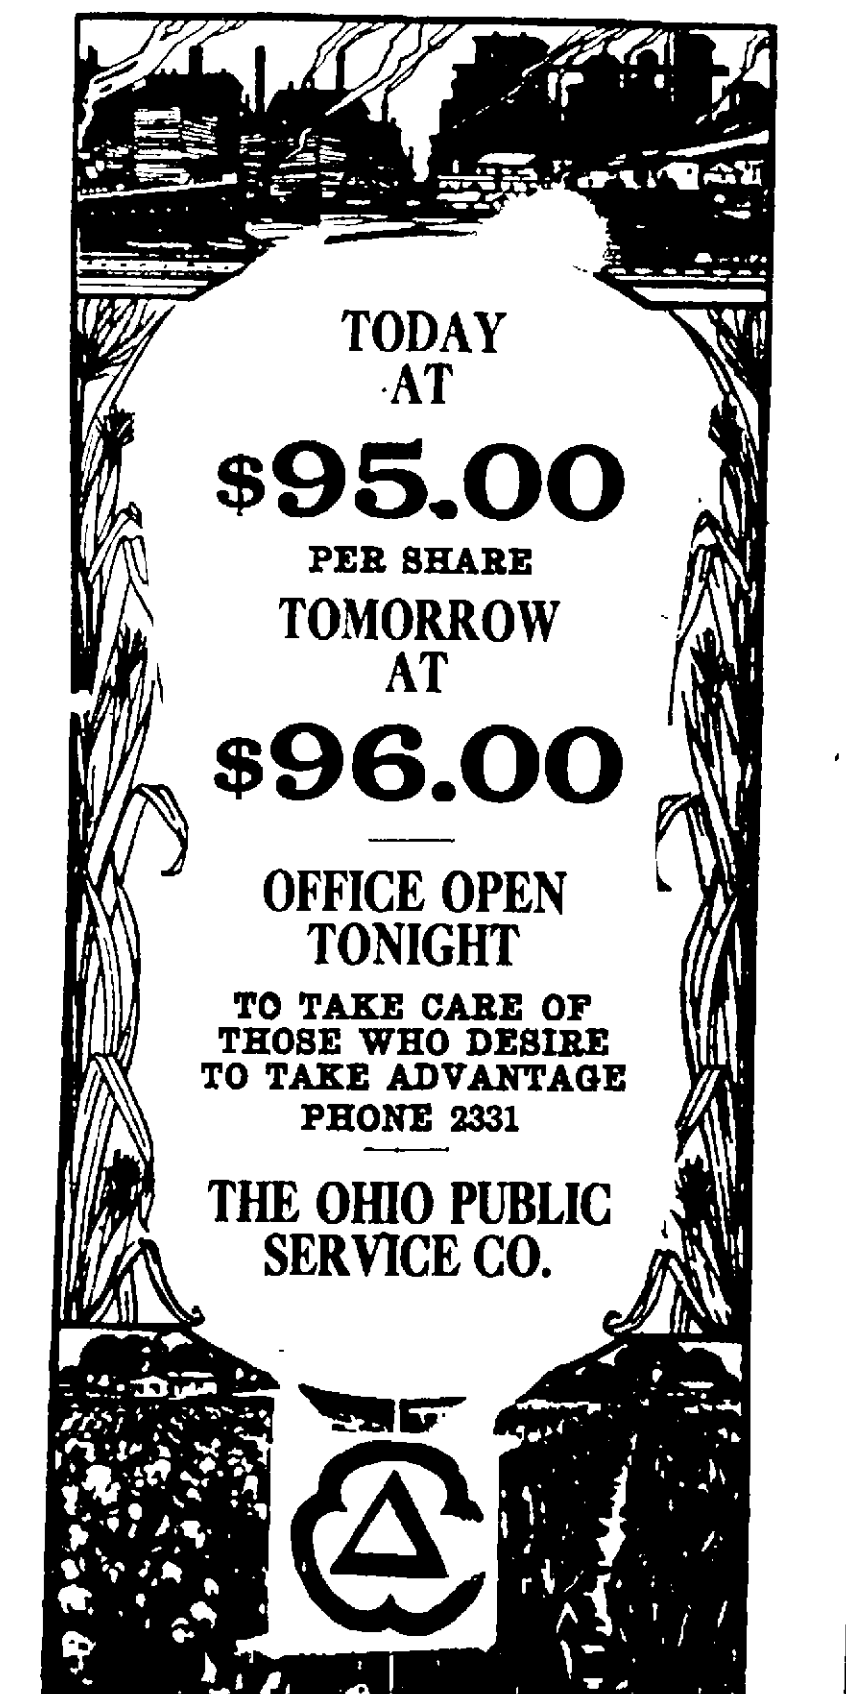

Had Nervous Spells

Horatio, Ark.—"I had nervous spells and awful bad feelings. My right side and my back hurt me all the time and I had been going down in health for six or seven years. For three years I had not been able to do my work without help. I weighed only 95 pounds when my husband's mother persuaded me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Now I heartily recommend it to all suffering women, as I have gained weight and health. I can do all my work, anything I want to do."—Mrs. JIM REARICK, Horatio, Arkansas.

Reading, Pa.—"I was a nervous wreck and could hardly do my housework. I always had to have help or I would never have got it done. Through the advice of friends I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my nerves and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine for my blood and I am feeling fine and doing my work all alone. I can recommend these medicines to any one, for they certainly helped me. I suffered for five years and Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines pulled me through."—Mrs. WALTER U. STOYER, 1218 Mulberry St., Reading, Pa.

Recommends the Vegetable Compound

New Orleans, La.—"I have found relief from my troubles by taking Lydia E Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I praise it wherever I go. I could not do my work as it should be done for I would sometimes have to lie down because of the pains I had. A friend induced me to take your Vegetable Compound and I have got great results from it. I keep house and am able to do all my own work. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends who have troubles similar to mine."—Mrs. T. FOECKLER, 1915 N. Derbigny St., New Orleans, La.

The fifteen membership teams turned out pratically in force last night received a complete store of ammunitions, picked out over seven hundred proespective names for membership and indicated that they were out to put their individual teams and divisions in the fore front

Andrew Gump, leader of the "stray' team that is running wild against both the other divisions, hurled a defy into the teeth of all the other teams and divisions stating that with the calibre of men on his team he could almost reach the 1000 mark himself Gump was loudly applauded for his valorous statements but when division leaders, F M Shelton and A L Garford got onto their feet, they scored Gump for his boastfulness and declared that he would be trailing when the campaign was over

Lawrence Webber led the men in a series of lusty songs featured by some novelty sonss rendered by the boys teams during the progress of the meal

After a snappy resume of the present condition of the membership made by General Secretary Hudson division leader Gump was called upon The reply by General Shelton followed

The principal talks of the evening were those of A L Garford a division leader and one of the founders of the Elyria Y M C A and Judge A R Webber

Mr Garford made a vigorous appeal for the return of the Y M C A to the strength and ideals which characterized its foundation ten year ago and expressed the belief that the men connected with the institution today would attain this goal

Judge Webber urged that the word Christian should not be forgotten in connection with the Y M C A stating that this was the foundation upon which the organization rests

Prospect lists were then distributed and the various teams had their pick of over seven hundred names as a starter toward the one thousand mark

Prominent posters score boards and stickers appeared in the down otwn districts this morning and daily totals of the drive will appear on the boards each morning

The first reports dinner will be held Wednesday noon and the final one will be held Thursday night Workers hit the deck early this morning and have been hot after their prospects during the rest of the day Those in the offices of the Y M C A regard this years team organization as one of the strongest that has ever worked in the interest of the Y and are confident of the final success of the campaign

The Elizabeth Stevens Missionary Society of the Methodist church held its first regular meeting of the year last evening, in the church. About sixty members were in attendance. During the business meeting it was decided that for the remainder of the year the meetings would be held the second Tuesday of each month. It was also decided that the Society should be classified as a Young Woman's Society in both divisions of the work, Home and Foreign.

A very delicious supper was served by the hostess committee of which Mrs. Carlton Squires was chairman. While the society was still seated in the dining room, Mrs. Ducart gave a very short but enlightening talk, about the work in the mission fields of Chili as she has seen it.

The program was then turned over to Mrs. Whitney, who had requested Mrs. Burke to give the Society a report of the inspiring meeting, of the presidents of all the auxiliaries of the District, recently held in Norwalk. Miss Pratt then opened the Foreign work of the year. She gave a very clearly defined picture of India as she heard it given at the Lakeside Conference this summer, dwelling not so much on improvised India as upon her possibilities and beauties, beauty of landscape, of architecture of music, and of the skillful handwork as shown in their jewels, rugs, carved ivories and embroideries. Miss Yoder had charge of the devotions and Mrs. Beazell had charge of the music for the evening.

LABOR WANTS BUSSES ON PAR WITH CAR LINE

CANTON, Oct. 10.—Resolutions favoring the return of light wines and beer, introduced by the international union of steam fitters and operating engineers of Cincinnati, another by the Ohio association of postal clerks and carriers favoring three-cent postage, a half holiday each week and voluntary retirement on pay at the end of thirty years were among the thirty-six such documents placed before the Ohio Federation of Labor at its convention today. Another important resolution and one which will have state wide effect if union labor is successful in the next session of the legislature is that calling for passage of a law placing jitneys and busses on the same plane with street and interurban electric cars. Labor leaders will insist that the same care be given passengers in busses that are extended by street companies at railway crossings, and thus companies and owners be chartered under the laws of the state, each being required to file with the state treasurer a bond sufficient to cover probable damage to life and limb.

In his annual report submitted to the convention late yesterday afternoon, President John Moore scored the judicial system of the country, declaring it was decidedly unfair to organize labor, citing injunctions issued during the coal and rail strikes. He declared that it was a mistake to appoint federal judges for life and urged that the system be changed.

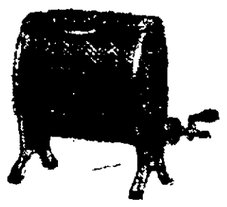

The stand of the state federation on gubernatorial and congressional candidates is expected to be made known Wednesday and Thursday. The report of the American federation upon U. S. Senator Atlee Pomerene and Congressman Simeon D. Fess, candidates for the senate, is in the hands of the convention officers. It was said in unofficial circles that a warm battle was expected when an attempt would be made to give Vice Donahey the endorsement for governor.

Pasteurized Milk

Pasteurized milk is milk that is heated in specially constructed containers at a temperature of 145 degrees and held for 30 minutes. This heating kills any disease producing germs that might happen to be in the milk. It takes nothing from the milk. It adds nothing to it except SAFETY, and, of course, safety is everything.

It is a method of making good milk better for we obtain the cleanest and best milk to be had. But the best of milk may receive germs from the air or other sources. So it is just plain common sense to use this scientific method to make the milk absolutely SAFE. You wouldn't think of feeding your family raw meat, no matter how clean a butcher shop it came from. Cooking it makes it safe because the heat kills the various germs in the meat.

Pasteurized milk is just as digestible and just as nutritions as raw milk.

Your order for daily delivery will be very much appreciated and we guarantee reliable, conscientious service.

REFUGEES TELL TALES OF HORRORS

1343 From Devastated City of Smyrna Reach New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 —Tales of horror and suffering that defied description were told by officers and crew of the American steamship Winona, which arrived in port today after taking 1,343 refugees from the devastated city of Smyrna to Pireus, Greece

The Winona was the last vessel to enter the harbor at Smyrna under the Greek regime and was allowed to remain in port until the city was fired by the Turks. The Winona reached Smyrna on September 10 and was in port until September 13.

The most vivid description of conditions at Smyrna was given by Henry A. Lehman, purser of the vessel.

As the vanguard of the Turk army entered the city, Lehman said the Greek soldiers discarded their uniforms and fire-arms and sought refuge anywhere they could find it

When the fire broke out the water front was thronged with nearly 400,000 Armenian refugees, seeking every means they could to reach some vessel that would afford them shelter. Their suffering, Lehman said, was unspeakable

Many women who had been the victims of atrocities, Lehman declared, were brought to the Winona in small boats. Many swam to some vessels, hundreds of others, who were less strong, were drowned in the attempt The spectacle of mothers, drowned, but still clinging to their babes, was not uncommon, he said, among the almost constant stream of bodies that floated past the Winona.

Captain John M. Walters of the Winona, also told a graphic story of Smyrna's horrors. Although he assisted in the rescue of victims of the Messina earthquake in Italy several years ago, Captain Walters said that in his 24 years at sea he had never seen anything more horrible than the Smyrna disaster. The veteran mariner wept as he recounted the story.

Screams of women, Captain Walters said, came across the water to the Winona, interspersed with volleys of rifle fire. One band of looters, he said, was seen to fire upon a company of men emerging from a house, killing several of them. Afterward the looters approached the bodies and hacked them with their swords.

Business houses were completely shut down, Captain Walters said and bands of looters passed through the city despoiling the shops

"I'll quit the sea rather than go through anything like it again.

"The Turkish army started to come into the town about 10 o'clock on the morning of September 9. We could see about two miles across the town with our glasses and we saw the first Turkish troops come in. The refugees out that way ran ahead of them and they looked like they were in mortal terror, the way they hurried along.

"On the night of September 10, though we were a mile and a half off shore, we heard the screams of women for more than two hours We thought these noises came from the Armenian and Jewish quarters principally We heard the same things on the night of September 11 About midnight of that day, an Armenian swam to the ship He told us the Turkish civilians were going through the town armed and taking the Greek, Armenian and Jewish men out and killing them. Then they looted the houses and took away any women they wanted"

Fires started at four different places in the city on September 13, Captain Walters said Some thought the fires were started by the Turks, some by the Greeks and others by the Armenians. Captain Walters said he did not believe the Armenians did this and said that American relief workers told him of seeing Turkish soldiers enter houses and soon smoke and flames would be seen coming from the houses
